Box No. II Observations where certain claims were found unsearchable (Continuation of item 2 of first sheet)

This international search report has not been established in respect of certain claims under Article 17(2)(a) for the following reasons:

1.  Claims Nos.:

because they relate to subject matter not required to be searched by this Authority, namely:

2.  Claims Nos.:

because they relate to parts of the international application that do not comply with the prescribed requirements to such an extent that no meaningful international search can be carried out, specifically:

3.  Claims Nos.:

because they are dependent claims and are not drafted in accordance with the second and third sentences of Rule 6.4(a)

Box No. III Observations where unity of invention is lacking (Continuation of item 3 of first sheet)

This International Searching Authority found multiple inventions in this international application, as follows:

1. The impact head as claimed in claims 1-8 and included in claims 9-11, claim 17, and method claim 20. These claims include cable routing means configured to form a tortuous path through which a cable can be threaded, this arrangement being considered a first "special technical feature".

during an impact.

1.  As all required additional search fees were timely paid by the applicant, this international search report covers all searchable claims.

2.  As all searchable claims could be searched without effort justifying an additional fee, this Authority did not invite payment of any additional fee.

3.  As only some of the required additional search fees were timely paid by the applicant, this international search report covers only those claims for which fees were paid, specifically claims Nos.:

4.  No required additional search fees were timely paid by the applicant. Consequently, this international search report is restricted to the invention first mentioned in the claims; it is covered by claims Nos.:

Remark on Protest

The additional search fees were accompanied by the applicant's protest.

No protest accompanied the payment of additional search fees.

Box No. IV Text of the Abstract (Continuation of item 5 of the first sheet)

An impact head for a road guardrail (1) including cable routing means (2) adapted to form a convoluted path through which a cable can be threaded. The convoluted path that the cables (15) must follow through the impact head of the invention restricts movement of the cable (15) through the head, thereby providing sufficient friction to slow down the movement of the impact head during a vehicle impact. Also disclosed is a method of constructing a guardrail including the steps of slidably interconnecting a plurality of rails and attaching them to posts, positioning the impact head as claimed at one end of the slidably interconnected rails, threading at least one cable through the impact head and anchoring the cable to the ground.

Supplemental Box

(To be used when the space in any of Boxes I to VIII is not sufficient)

Continuation of Box No: III

2. A guardrail as claimed in claims 12-15, 18 and 19, including at least one cable provided along at least part of the length of a plurality of slidably-interconnected rails wherein each end of the cable is fixed in relation to the ground and an impact slider means substantially surrounds a first rail and includes a portion that gathers and retains rails during an impact. This arrangement is considered to comprise a second "special technical feature".
3. A frangible fastener as claimed in claim 16, including a head portion having a minimum cross-sectional diameter greater than the maximum cross-sectional diameter of a tail portion and a shank portion including a frangible zone having a minimum cross-sectional diameter smaller than the tail portion's maximum cross-sectional diameter. This arrangement is considered to comprise a third "special technical feature".

Although the impact head of claim 17 and the guardrail of claim 18 include the frangible fastener of claim 16, the three groups of claims considered as a whole do not share any of the identified special technical features, and therefore a technical relationship between the claims, as defined in Rule 13.2, does not exist. Accordingly, the international application does not relate to a single invention, or to a single inventive concept.
